A Directory of American Psychological Services, 1957, which lists agencies and individuals offering services in clinical and industrial psychology has just been published. It is the work of a Board of five psychologists appointed by the American Psychological Association to supply a guide for the public seeking the services of qualified psychologists. Since only over one hundred names are included the Directory must be considered only a small beginning. Inclusion in the Directory depended on application for evaluation and listing. Thus, the absence of a name is more likely to mean that no application was made than that the person or agency failed to meet the standards of the Board. The Directory may be obtained for $1.00 from the Board for Psychological Services, Inc., 9827 Clayton Road, St. Louis 17, Missouri.
