

IN MEMORY OF RUDOLF DREIKURS, 1897-1972¹

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

The American Society of Adlerian Psychology, at its 20th Annual Meeting in Houston, Texas, May 26-28, 1972, records with sorrow the passing of a founding member, Rudolf Dreikurs, whose untiring labors and dedication in the service of Individual Psychology were and continue to be an inspiration to all our members, and whose generous giving of himself to others and to the work of human development made him a model representative of the meaning of Alfred Adler's thoughts and teachings. This record is made part of the official minutes and proceedings of the 20th Annual Meeting, and the Secretary is instructed to publish it in the appropriate journals and newsletters, and to convey a copy of the same to our beloved friend and co-worker, Sadie Dreikurs.

¹For a portrait of Dr. Rudolf Dreikurs, an autobiographical paper, a consensual appreciation by persons who "have been influenced by him," his bibliography up to 1967, and an appreciation by the present editor, see the section in honor of the 70th birthday of Dr. Dreikurs in this Journal, 1967, 23, 143-180.
